

While I recognise that the terms of this inquiry are broader, I suggest that the principal focus of the Productivity Commission should be productivity. Could the commission please outline how reducing the wages of low-paid employees will increase productivity?

Giles Sadler