

I wish to make the following contribution to any review discussion of conditions of employment.

It should be mandated by Government Legislation that all worker's entitlements such as sick leave, long service leave and superannuation should be paid into a trust fund for each worker, each pay day and not held by the employer in the employer's bank account.

Too many companies default on these payment when they close down or go into liquidation.

Frank O'Brien