Creating a more dynamic and resilient economy inquiry

Questionnaire response 84

Name: Edward Barnett

Submission date: 19/05/2025

1. Support business investment through corporate tax reform

1. What features of the Australian business environment have encouraged or restrained investment over the past 10 years?

The participant did not respond to this question.

2. What elements of the corporate tax system encourage and/or discourage investment and risk-taking?

The participant did not respond to this question.

3. Which parts of the corporate tax system do you find the hardest, or most time or cost-intensive to comply with? How could the compliance burden of the business/company tax system be reduced?

The participant did not respond to this question.

2. Reduce the impact of regulation on business dynamism

1. What areas of regulation do you see as enhancing business dynamism and resilience? What are the reasons for your answer?

Allower purely women to design and build Parrahub on shifts that suit them and as it is a completly new type of building most of the existing rules would not apply also giving many people an oppertunity.

2. How has your regulatory burden changed over time?

As an old man I had a forklift ticket and loader ticket for life but now in NSW you need a new ticket every five years that costs $50 so I had to wait 20 minutes for the forklift driver to come back with the key even though I could have easily done it.

3. What regulations do you find time-consuming, overly complex or otherwise constraining business dynamism and resilience? What are the reasons for your answer?

Vunerable surface last century rail being designed by last century "experts"

4. Can you share any specific examples of where you think a regulator has done a good or bad job of understanding and reducing regulatory burden on businesses and why?

As an old coal miner it seemed rediculous that men could not travel in the men and materials shaft with a skip so as there was always 1 or 2 going in and out it was difficult to get supplies in.