Date: 11 August 2025

To: The Productivity Commission

Subject: Submission — Pro-Growth Economic Reform Package for Australia

Dear Commissioners,

Please find enclosed my submission titled 'Pro-Growth Economic Reform Package for Australia'. This submission presents a comprehensive set of policy reforms designed to enhance Australia's long-term economic growth, productivity, and fiscal sustainability.

Drawing upon economic theory from Adam Smith through to modern empirical research, as well as international and domestic case studies, the paper outlines the benefits of reducing the corporate tax rate to 15%, implementing full expensing of capital investment, targeted privatisation of non-core assets, and introducing a disciplined regulatory simplification framework.

The evidence presented demonstrates that these reforms, if implemented in a coordinated manner, could deliver a GDP uplift of between 7.1% and 11.3% over a decade, alongside significant increases in investment, wages, and national income.

Yours sincerely,
Stephen Borness
