
Dear Sir,

1. In the first instance, is it not the responsibility of the respective Automotive Industry leaders to carry out and determine their existence feasibility ?
2. Has public consultation been undertaken to ascertain their willingness to have their finances spent in your current endeavours, given that the industry is commercial?
3. Given that previous governments have funneled taxpayers finances without achievable and desired outcomes why or how will this inquiry prove to be successful ?
4. In spite of fathomless amounts of taxpayers finances funneled into this industry the industry's demise seems to remain inevitable.

My Proposition.

Given that over years and years throughout countless changes of government countless millions or billions of taxpayers money has been channeled into the automotive industry and here again we have another Commission of Investigation to ascertain how to successfully structure this industry.

TAXPAYERS money INTO THE INDUSTRY and COMMISSIONS equally no productive resolve. INSTEAD..... funnell this same Taxpayers money to The Taxpayer in the form of Vehicle Purchase Vouchers thereby increasing the guaranteed continuity of sales volume potential.

Roy P. Matthews