

Dear Productivity Commission,

I am in secondary school and about to do tertiary training,

I know at least ten people who rely on the industry and of 5 of those they will have to move their entire family interstate to find work which is difficult to find for them.

We simply can't rely on Asia for everything and this will harm us if there is a war/turmoil not to mention that our GDP will be damaged.

It is very upsetting that all the tariff cutting and Lima declaration led to these people becoming poor while people at the top get richer ultimately those at the bottom stand to lose and this industry is great because it isn't about rich shareholders but has great benefits for average citizens and small business.

Not everyone in my generation is a genius ready to go to university and the lack of these jobs is only stealing from the future generations and forcing people who are not as intellectually smart to be left out which just puts more pressure on parents and hounds adults to perform on exam and study something that they don't even enjoy,

Kind Regards,
Alex Delaney