

Dear Productivity Commission,

recently retired aged 70 and trying to get by on pension. Have worked in private, public and community sectors and had own business in IT

everything has a spin-off effect - if there are less jobs in industry or public service or anywhere, then less money will circulate

Why is the auto industry not viable? Maybe this is a chance to inject some new ideas - maybe even lateral thinking (not driving...) to get these cars back on the road

Kind Regards,
Ariel Marguin
