

Dear Productivity Commission,

While I have worked for most of my life (Office Administration) I have been unable to find a full-time job during the last 12 months - only a few short-term assignments with a temp agency.

Many smaller Local businesses often close when a major employer closes down.

The loss of skills and the risk of components manufacturing closing down.

I am concerned about Australia's current situation where large numbers of people are under-employed or unable to find work.

Kind Regards,
Maree Williamson
