

Dear Productivity Commission,

NO

My son is an auto-mechanic, with an extra 200.000 plus people unemployed I am sure it will affect many people directly or indirectly involved due to much less cash to flow through out the economy.

There is no country in the world that exist without government assistance and support, the AUS.GOV. is the lowest contributor of this type of assistance. How do they justify giving $900 million to banking and $700 to mining in subsidies, which it self seems obscene considering their independent behaviour and mass profits, and allow the auto-industry to slide into oblivion. And finally the lose of directly and indirectly over 200.000 jobs plus the cash flow to businesses affected by this will affect Australia future in an unforeseen manner.

This is very important to me because I have children and grand children, and because of the whims and lies of an elected government, especially one whose leader told everyone he wanted to be remembered as the infrastructure PM adds to this obscenity.

Kind Regards,
roberto bettinzoli