

Hi,

As a life long reader and lover of books (and editor by profession), I firmly encourage you to relax the restrictions on books in Australia. This will allow more reasonably-priced books for all; which is the key factor in getting more people to buy and read books.

Rather than negatively effect Australian booksellers and authors, I feel this will encourage sales here as many, many people to buy books here rather than import them via Amazon.

Kind regards,
Lynn Elsey
