

I am writing to oppose the proposed copyright restrictions on the parallel importation of books.

As a mother and a Teachers Aide at our local school, it is very disappointing to hear that we might lose our beautiful Aussie written books, written by some very talented authors right here in Australia. Books are a window to the real world for our kids and we want that window to show the Australian real world not the Asian real world.

The Australian books available to kids at the moment are beautiful so why change this?

Kind regards
