

Dear Productivity Commission,

I wish to make a submission to the commission about the review of parallel imports.

In times when literature is pushed to the margins by economic & technological/cultural factors, one would think that it is to the interest of Australian publishers to publish overseas titles here, for a profit that will support the publishing of Australian literature.

Parallel imports will make this segment of publishing redundant. I urge the commission to take this fact into account.

Many thanks,

Josiane Smith,
author